ASL NEWSLETTER

April 2011

- In Memoriam: Greg Hjorth. Greg Hjorth died of a heart attack in his birth city of Melbourne, Australia, on January 13, 2011. He was forty-seven.

Hjorth was recognized as a young chess whiz in his primary school years. He quickly advanced to tournament chess, becoming joint Commonwealth Champion in 1983 and earning his International Master title in 1984. He played Garry Kasparov, among other accomplished chess rivals, but took his own later advice that, “if you’re not in the top 100 by 21, get out.” Hjorth’s passion for chess played over to mathematical logic, a field that saw him reach great heights with high academic honors and wide recognition.

After receiving his undergraduate degree in mathematics and philosophy at the University of Melbourne, Hjorth continued his studies at the University of California, Berkeley, where he received his Ph.D. in mathematics in 1993 under the supervision of Hugh Woodin. As a graduate student, Hjorth was recognized for his exceptional talent, and his thesis was awarded the first Sacks Prize in 1994 for his research in descriptive set theory and its surprising consequences concerning the relationship between projective sets and large cardinals. Hjorth pursued his postdoctoral studies at Caltech for two years, after which he joined the mathematics faculty at UCLA in 1995, where he was made full professor in 2001. Beginning in 2006, he spent two quarters of each year at the University of Melbourne as a prestigious Australian Research Council professorial fellow.

Over his sixteen years at UCLA, Hjorth was acknowledged as a world leader in mathematical logic and its applications to other fields of mathematics. He made a series of stunning and far reaching contributions, in particular to ergodic theory and orbit equivalence of group actions. These included the development of entirely new theories, including what is now called Hjorth’s theory of turbulence, which has had a major impact in contemporary work in set theory and its applications. Hjorth was known as a brilliant problem solver, having been able to achieve major breakthroughs in problems that were previously considered intractable, including his remarkable work on the famous topological Vaught Conjecture and most recently, his results on the incomparability of treeable equivalence relations.

His work consistently amazed his colleagues with its uncanny originality and technical wizardry, and has been recognized by many honors, including a Sloan Foundation Fellowship in 1997, an invited lecture at the International Congress of Mathematicians in 1998, the ASL Karp Prize in 2003 (joint with Alexander Kechris), and last year, an invitation to deliver the Alfred Tarski Lectures at Berkeley. Hjorth supervised eight Ph.D. students at UCLA, including 2008 Ph.D. Inessa Epstein, who also was awarded the prestigious Sacks prize.

Hjorth will be richly remembered by fellow colleagues as a brilliant mathematician in constant pursuit of solutions to intractable problems, and as a committed and caring teacher. He is survived by his parents Noela and Robert, and his sister Larissa.

- ASL Membership Dues Increase. The ASL Secretary-Treasurer will recommend to the ASL Council that in the year 2012 the dues for individual membership in the Association be increased to US$88; in 2011 the dues are US$82, and they have been at this rate since 2008. (For emeritus, student, and unemployed members, the 2012 dues will be US$44 and in 2011 they are US$41, as they have been since 2008.) Dues for Outreach individual members will remain unchanged at $18. According to the ASL Constitution, if by August 1, 2011, at least 5 percent of the individual members petition the Secretary-Treasurer, the increase in dues would have to be approved in the 2011 ASL Election by a majority of those voting.

- Discounted Dues for New ASL Individual Members. The ASL now offers a 50% discount on dues for new individual members during each of the first two years of membership. For more information, visit <http://www.aslonline.org/membership-individual.html>.

ASL MEETINGS

- Student Travel Awards: ASL or ASL-Sponsored Meetings. The ASL will make available modest travel awards to graduate students in logic so that they may attend ASL or ASL-sponsored meetings (other than the 2012 North American Annual Meeting and the 2012 European Summer Meeting; the announcement for travel award applications for these meetings will be made in the fall of 2011). To be considered for a Travel Award, please (1) send a letter of application, and (2) ask your thesis supervisor to send a brief recommendation letter. The application letter should be brief (preferably one page) and should include: (1) your name; (2) your home institution; (3) your thesis supervisor's name; (4) a one-paragraph description of your studies and work in logic, and a paragraph indicating why it is important to attend the meeting; (5) your estimate of the travel expenses you will incur; (6) (for citizens or residents of the USA) citizenship or visa status; and (7) (voluntary) indication of your gender and minority status. Women and members of minority groups are strongly encouraged to apply. In addition to funds provided by the ASL, the program of travel grants is supported by a grant from the US National Science Foundation; NSF funds for meetings outside of North America may be awarded only to students at USA universities and to citizens and permanent residents of the USA. Air travel paid for using NSF funds must be on a US flag carrier. Application by email is encouraged; put "ASL travel application" in the subject line of your message.
